

Callum
15 Feb
Making a book trailer is a lot of fun, but it can be disappointing. You generally not done when you think you are. And the tweaking can be grating. But no project is more fulfilling than seeing the finished product.

The writing/composing process was long, and when the computers freeze It is awful. But overall the book trailers were fun.